

Information Management Update: February 2015

How can SharePoint work for you?

The use of SharePoint is continuing to grow, so at our next Information Management Liaison Group (IMLG) we want to ask: 'How can SharePoint work for you?'

We will hear from a range of KIM speakers who have introduced SharePoint in their organisation.

The IMLG will be held on Thursday 26 March at our site in Kew. Contact our events team to book your place.

Two heads better than one

We have two new recruits to our Information Management teams, Stephen Hall and James Clark.

James has joined as Head of Records Transfer and Accessions. James has previously worked in a variety of Departments including FCO, Home Office and BIS, as well as some arm's length bodies. He is responsible for the timely transfer of records to The National Archives.

Stephen takes on the position of Manager of Records and Information Management Services, managing the team of Information Management Consultants. He has previously served in HM Forces, before joining the Civil Service in 2000. He has worked in a number of Departments including HM Prison Service, Defra and the Food Standards Agency.

Both are looking forward to meeting you in the coming weeks.

From our blog

UK still in top spot for open data

Open data, The National Archives, and re-use of information. We may seem a bit of an odd combination at first: The National Archives which collects, manages and protects information and records,...

The Information Game

Alan Turing. A name you might be familiar with. The mathematician with a penchant for puzzles and a craving for complex conundrums. The hero that made the single biggest contribution...

Keeping up with the KIM Leaders' Network

The KIM Leaders' Network provides a forum for an integrated cross-governmental approach to knowledge and information management.

Chaired by The National Archives and made up of a KIM leader from each main government department and representatives from other groups as agreed, you can now keep up to date with the latest on our dedicated KIM Leaders' Network page.

Are you following us?

We've reached 50,000 followers on Twitter.

We use our Twitter account @UKNatArchives to share news, let you know about the latest file releases, events, podcasts and blogs, and to answer your questions.

Have you caught up with the conversation about the proposed looming digital dark age which hit the headlines last week?

#nodigitaldarkage

Digital continuity training

Digital continuity is the ability to use digital information in the way that you need, for as long as you need.

You can attend one of our free training days to find out how to manage digital continuity within your organisation.

This newsletter provides updates from The National Archives and news relating to information management.

Please feel free to share it with colleagues who may be interested, who can sign up for their own copies by emailing information.management@nationalarchives.gsi.gov.uk

You are receiving this email because you are in a KIM-related role and we think this information management update might interest you. If you would like to remove your details please use the link below. We use an email distribution company to send out this newsletter. We will not pass your data on to any other third parties. Please read our privacy statement for more information.

Disclaimer: The National Archives holds no responsibility regarding the content of external sites.

The National Archives, Kew, Surrey TW9 4DU, UK
Contact us

Information management top tip

Selection

Do NOT select files that contain only:

Duplicates

Copies

Press Cuttings

Publications

Reference material

Unsubscribe or change your details
Crown copyright 2015