H.O.W. No. PS/13205 is now due for the June review.

2. Since the December review only three letters to Mrs. Lizy HONIGMANN @ PHILBY have been intercepted and none of these has been of special security interest. Although HONIGMANN is known to have been a Russian spy there is no evidence over the last six months to suggest that she is in contact with any current R.I.S. suspects in the UK.

3. It is therefore requested that this H.O.W. now be cancelled. K.3/PMW concurs.

~~K.3.~~

When I told you about the information at 167a, that it was reported that Lizzy PHILBY was jobless, had resigned from the Communist Party and might be becoming disillusioned, you asked me to look at the file (PF.47,579) for John PEET, as there were perhaps signs of similar disillusionment in his case and Maurice Williams had written a note having some bearing on this.

2. Maurice's note is at 280b in PEET's file. It recommends us to be very wary of the report of PEET's disillusionment, but sets out reasons why his case should be considered of K Branch interest. In this connection please see minute 290 in his file.

3. While it is true that we should be suspicious of any change of heart on the part of PEET, Ian Cameron's idea as at 292a of de-briefing Colin MacINTYRE more thoroughly seems a good one and we might now write to him again to see how he has progressed with this. There is just a possibility that MacINTYRE might provide a lead in to PEET and through PEET to Lizzy.

4. An interesting point is that PEET seems this year to have broken his habit of visiting the U.K. (see paragraph 4 of 280b), and this year went to Varna (Bulgaria), all of which is mentioned in his mother's letter at 296a. (She seemed perhaps a little sad about it, and suggested he might get away again in November). It might be that he had some sort of warning about the MacINTYRE report and changed his plans voluntarily; alternatively some form of pressure may have been put upon him from the Communist side.

Thank you for looking into this matter for me. I suspect that the chances of either Lissy PHILBY or John PEET talking to us are fairly remote but we would be failing in our duty if we did not take what steps are open to us to follow up this very flimsy lead. I would be grateful therefore if you will write to Ian Cameron and ask him whether he ever followed up our letter of 8th August 1969 in which we gave him the go ahead to arrange an interview with MacINTYRE.

In connection with the 1937 Whitsun weekend it seems to me that it might just be worth while interviewing Julius STRAUSS - see paragraph 2 of 173a and the Annex giving his particulars.. Although there is no reason to believe he was at the cottage he was a member of the NEWMARK circle and might conceivably know the mysterious "X" of the photographs. If you agree I will send him the usual Room O55 letter.

Thank you for your Minute 176. I am reluctant to interview Julius STRAUSS not only because there is no obvious reason why he should know who the mysterious 'X' was but also because I do not at the moment wish to raise this matter again within the NEWMARK circle. I am sure that before we make any further outside enquiries we should do our own homework in the K.6 albums of identified and suspected I.Os and also in the R.9 records of Russians who were en poste in the UK before the war.]

2. While I was looking through this file I came across the letter from Lizzy PHILBY at 163a and there are two points in it which I think we should extract to other files. There is in the first place a reference to the "Sanchas" who I feel sure must be a reference to the family of the Spaniard (whose full name escapes me at the moment) whose file you looked at at the time you were doing your analysis of HEFTER. Secondly, the ALBERMANS mentioned half way through the letter is without doubt the family who live in Highgate in the next door house to TALKATIVE's sister-in-law. If I remember rightly Mrs. ALBERMAN is the granddaughter of ZWEIG and possesses a great number of his papers. This is allegedly the reason for the contact between TALKATIVE and the ALBERMANS because as you will recall TALKATIVE has written a book on ZWEIG. I am pretty sure, however, that there is something on record which this letter confirms to show that there was a pre-war connection between Lizzy PHILBY and the ALBERMANS.

3. There should be a note of all this on — at 163a — with TALKATIVE's file by Hugh Galton-Fenzi who dug up this information fairly recently. (P. Stewart)

I met Cyril CONNOLLY, but not until after the war. He wanted to know about Greece, and didnt like it when I told him that the "New Statesman" had got it wrong. I told Lizy too, and she didnt like it either. She had all the formal Marxist answers, and wasnt upset by the actual facts at all. She would argue, but she would never try to convert. I came back to England at the ~~beginning~~^{end} of March, ¹⁹⁴⁵ and I would have gone to see Gerda and Lizy fairly soon. Probably about April. She was presumably still in her war job. Bill mentioned it to me. Lizy may well have told me - I dont think she would have hidden it. She told me how she couldnt get the British workers interested in politics, and I could understand it - I was in sympathy with them.

O/G. Nick (JACOBS) to Lizzie(?Lizzie HONIGMANN) East Berlin 5111388 via operator.

Nick (who introduces himself as Nick from London) wishes her a happy birthday. Lizzie (who seems to know him well) thanks him. He asks if she is well. She tells Nick that Barbel has got a new job and is in Berlin. Nick is pleased and asks where is she working. Lizzie replies, at the ?volksdunate/?folksdooate(v.ph). There is a very good director there who wanted her. The other theatre let her go so everything is alright. Nick passes on his love and contragulations to her (Barbel).

(Babu)
(pres. Volkstheater)

Lizzie asks after Nick. He tells her he is very well. They had a very good May Day demonstration this year - about 20,000 people. She then asks if he is coming again soon. Nick hopes so, its very difficult for him to get away but hopes to come soon.

Lizzie asks for her love to be passed onto Ilon (a DONAT). Nick says, she (Ilona) sends her love and so does Stanley FORMAN.

1. Donald McCORMICK @ Richard DEACON, author of "A History of the Russian Secret Service" (published Muller, 1972), "A History of the British Secret Service" (published Muller, 1969) and many other books was interviewed twice in Room 055 by K3/E W Pratt using the name Pavitt and myself using the name Rimmer.

2. The purpose of the interviews was to attempt to get McCORMICK to tell us about his sources for "A History of the Russian Secret Service" and in particular to try to discover whether he had any information new to us about the origins and methods of the RIS attack on this country in the 1930s, with particular reference to various assertions he makes in the chapter entitled "Infiltration" (Chapter 22).

KRIVITSKY and Lizzy PHILBY

33. We asked McCORMICK on what he based his assertion that "KRIVITSKY knew all about PHILBY because it was in Vienna where he and PHILBY both met their future wives and all four were members of the same underground Communist cell in that city", (page 307). His reply was:-

"I cannot find any further notes or references to a link between KRIVITSKY and PHILBY's first wife, Lizzy FRIEDMAN, yet I am sure there was a link, and that it was in Vienna."

He was not able to enlarge on this.

(Comment: Lizzy PHILBY has PF 68261. I have found nothing in our files to indicate that KRIVITSKY knew Lizzy or PHILBY in Vienna.)

1. According to the Insight Team Book on PHILBY, Karl FRIEDMAN, Lizzy FRIEDMAN's first husband believed that Gabor PETER, a refugee in Vienna from Admiral Horthy's dictatorship, had recruited Lizzy into the Communist Party shortly after her divorce from FRIEDMAN. FRIEDMAN remembered PETER as a real Stalinist, a tough ruthless and professional operator - a hunchback with a thin ugly face.

2. In 1945, according to the Insight Team book PETER became head of the Secret Police in Hungary, was purged in 1953, imprisoned until 1959 and subsequently became a tailor again.

I/C to (Nick JACOBS) from Ilon(a DONAT).

Nick tried to ring her earlier but she wasn't in. Ilon was at work, she worked hard and is annoyed.

Ilon asks how Nick is. He is working hard on this book, he calls it useless. Ilona asks, why is it useless? Nick thinks its so bad....he's going to do it anyway. Ilona asks, why? Nick doesn't really know, to prove something maybe.

Ilona tells Nick to go out. He is, later on. She tells him not to be so sorry for himself then, "you stupid man." Nick says he isn't sorry for himself. She then asks, are you coming for breakfast. He can't somebody (Hilary) is coming here.

Ilon is tired and going to bed. Nick tells her not to otherwise she will become like LITZIE (?Lizzie HONIGMANN). She doesn't want to become like LITZIE. Nick tells her she will if she goes to bed early.

Nick hopes to see Ilon within the next week, maybe next Saturday (17th). Next Saturday Ilona has the A.G.M. of the British Hungarian Friendship Society and Nick would put her off. Nick protests that he would do no such thing. Ilona tells him he would "because you are a nice boy, your a nice boy." She then says "I'm getting a bit senile don't you think - say yes." Nick says something about her second childhood. She then tells him she is writing her life story. Nick says, again!

Nick asks if she knows a Mrs.LUDOVICK(ph) a Hungarian psychoanalyst. Ilona ejetzks, Mein Gott! Keep away from them. She doesn't know Mrs. LUDOVICK.

22. I went on to ask LEES about Kim's marriage to Lizi, (PF 68,261) whether he was surprised by the marriage and whether Lizi was the sort of person he would have expected Kim to marry. He replied that as Kim had told him it was only a marriage of convenience he had not been particularly surprised by it. He knew that Kim and Lizi had been heavily involved in smuggling wanted people out of Austria, and he assumed that things had got too hot for Lizi and Kim had married her to get her out. LEES said he did not think that Kim and Lizi had much in common and Kim had told him later that after Lizi left him she became a prostitute. I asked if Kim had in fact ever brought Lizi to Nottingham to stay with him but LEES said "No". He had only met Lizi once in London in 1936 (see paragraph 33).

30. I showed LEES the incomplete letter of his to Guy of 20th July, 1936, from which it appears that he was intending to visit Guy and Kim in London with a friend called STEWART.

33. Before the visit LEES had written to Kim telling him they were coming up to London and asking if they could see him. Kim had replied that he would be in Berlin that week but would be flying back and they must lunch with him on the Saturday. Guy, STEWART and LEES had all gone for lunch to the flat where Kim and Lizi were living. LEES could not remember the address but when I suggested the Kilburn area he thought that was right. This was the only occasion on which he had met Lizi and his main memory of her was that she could not cook; the meat for lunch had been red raw and almost inedible.

34. LEES said that the Spanish Civil War had just broken out and the conversation at lunch concerned the war. He remembered being very angry when Kim said that the leftists in Spain did not have a chance, but Kim was not prepared to pursue the argument and left it in the air. LEES recalled that PHILBY was working at the time for a German trade magazine and appeared to be almost pro-Nazi in his sympathies. I asked what Lizi's attitude to this appeared to be and LEES replied that he thought she was ambivalent. When he heard later from Kim that Lizi had left him, however, he assumed this was partly because she did not agree with his politics.

35. When I asked how Guy had appeared to get on with Lizi LEES replied "Guy never took very much notice of women." He could not remember noticing anything particular about their attitude to each other.

(Comment: Guy appears to have been on very friendly terms with Lizi in 1937 when she wrote a letter to him inviting him to visit her in Paris. I was hoping LEES might have some useful comment on the extent of their relationship at this earlier period.)

Lizy HONIGMANN was born KOHLMANN in Vienna in 1910. She first married an Austrian called FRIEDMANN, from whom she was soon divorced, and it was as Lizy FRIEDMANN that PHILBY met her in Vienna in 1933/34. He lodged in her house and in February, 1934 they married. By the marriage she obtained British nationality and travelled to the U.K. with PHILBY a month or two later. It was almost certainly through Lizy that PHILBY was recruited by the R.I.S. and they worked together for that organisation for some years. Lizy was also an active member of the Communist Party in England during the war. By about 1940 she and PHILBY had separated and they were divorced in 1946. Lizy then lived with HONIGMANN, whom she later married, either before or after their return to Eastern Europe in 1946. Since that date she has been living in East Germany. It is not known whether she still works for the R.I.S. and there have been reports that she is disillusioned both with the Russians and the East German regime, but in the absence of any firm information it is presumed that contact with her could still indicate connection with espionage.

Dear Nick,
Everything is really rather complicated. Not Babu must go to Brandenburg (1 hour from Berlin) on 2nd August and she wants you to go with her. She also wants to return to Berlin for 2-3 days during the week. Therefore, it would be rather better if you could arrive on the first. But will it be possible to arrange the documents correspondingly? We think that if you postpone it again nothing will ever come of your journey. We are very much looking forward to seeing you. Unfortunately Johnny will not be there and most of the theatres will be closed. In Brandenburg (a nice city), you can always come along to the rehearsals. It is a nice play, and furthermore you will have a free lunch. Please bring along an eye-lash-pencil (spiral) for Babu and some good tea for myself. Perhaps I shall give you a ring.
Hoping to see you soon

Note For File

1. Reference 198z and 199a, Home Office papers for Mrs Magda BALINT show that she was born Budapest on 5th May, 1910 nee GRUNWALD. Her husband, Dr Istvan BALINT, died in Russia in January, 1943. Early in 1957 she was invited to come and live in England by a cousin who was a naturalised British subject. She came out without difficulty and has been here ever since and has obtained her naturalisation. There is only one item of possible security interest in her Home Office files, namely that in 1958 she was the subject of a denunciation by another Hungarian refugee. The substance of the denunciation does not appear on her file however, nor any details of her accuser, except that the name he adopted in this country was HOWE. Papers about this were formerly in D2/Gen.H.383/KT (there was correspondence with S.B. in June, 1960) of which there is now no trace and L.521-Hungarians which was destroyed on 30.10.68.

2. Since I wrote the note at 199a and the arrival from the Home Office of Mrs Magda BALINT's files, we have had the immigration reports at 202a and 204a reporting the departure of the CSAKANYs from this country. Gyorgy CSAKANY said that while in London he had been staying at the home of a Hungarian friend whom he named as 'Miss Mander'. It would seem, therefore, that his hostess was not Mrs Magda BALINT, as I thought, but Miss Magda Clara MENDE, the other occupant of the flat at 100 Forset Court. She is N.T. in our records and her Home Office file shows that she was naturalized British in 1963. She was born at Vac, Hungary, on 11.1.09. She left Hungary quite easily in 1957 to join some relatives here, said she had never been a member of the C.P. in Hungary and does not appear to be of any security interest. She is employed as a book-keeper in London.

3. The presumed host of the younger Gyorgy CSAKANY, however, living at 39 Christchurch Avenue, namely Martin PAPAI, is the subject of quite an interesting file, PF 872,125.

4. first came to notice in 1966, three years after his naturalisation as a British subject, when his name appeared on the list of emigres kept by the Hungarian Consulate for invitation to functions of the Hungarian Cultural Circle in London. He and his wife became members of the Circle and by 1968 he was working for it, keeping the books etc. In 1969 reported that he was hoping to return home to Hungary. According to a K5B source he is a long standing Communist activist who had been a Party member in Hungary for eighteen years before coming here in 1957. Some of these years had been spent in the illegal Communist underground prior to 1945. He had worked as head porter of the Imperial Hotel in Budapest to report on visitors. After the events of 1956 his tough hard-line views conflicted with the newer line of the Party and he was told he could go to the West if he wished. He came here with the full knowledge and approval of the Party. He visited Hungary in 1966, 1967 and 1969 and was re-admitted to the Party in Hungary of which he is now a full member. He participates fully in the activities and intrigu

1. The above-named passenger was recognised as the subject of a telex message of 12th September 1971 which requested action 'A'. He was encountered on the embarkation control at 1115hrs on 26th November 1971 when he was travelling by car accompanied by his wife.

2. Details of both are as follows:-

Subject:	CSAKANY Gyorgy. M. 22.6.20 at KOLOZSVIER.
Profession:	'Medecine'
Passport:	Hungarian no. C032034 issued at Budapest on 2.6.69 and valid until 3.5.76
Wife:	CSAKANY Marta. F. 2.4.20 at BUDAPEST.
Profession:	Film Director.
Passport:	Hungarian no. C032035.

Both were travelling in a white 4-seater saloon car bearing the 'H' international plate and with registration no. IH 5499.

3. Mr. CSAKANY had been permitted to land at Dover East on the 26th September 1971 for a period of two months. He told me that he and his wife had been staying at 100 Forset Court, Edgware Road, London W.2., an address which, he said, was the home of a 'Hungarian Friend' whom he named as 'Miss MANDER'.

4. Mr. CSAKANY said that he and his wife were going to take the 1230hr service to Ostend on their return home to Budapest via Belgium, W. Germany, and Austria.

5. Mr CSAKANY's passport was endorsed with visas for the following countries:-

Benelux	Valid to 29.11.71
Holland	valid to 30.11.71
W,Germany	valid to 30.12.71
Austria	valid to 26. 1.72

There was also a French visa which appeared to have expired.

6. All the above information was passed by telephone to Box 590 at 1145hrs on 26th November 1971.

7. BLUNT then said that he had been thinking more about the "OTTO" problem. He repeated that he certainly could not deny that the photograph that I had shown him last time could be OTTO. (The photograph I showed him then was of KAMINSKIY @ BELETSKIY). He asked me whether that man had anything ever to do with Paris. I asked him why he asked me this question. He said that he had remembered Guy BURGESS and Lizzie PHILBY had made a day trip to Paris before the war, and had brought back a suitcase full of money for OTTO. I said what did he mean by "for OTTO". He said he was not clear whether they had met OTTO in Paris and had been given the money to bring to this country to give to somebody else, or whether they had met somebody in Paris and had been given the money to bring to OTTO, or whether OTTO had just used them as a vehicle to get a suitcase of money for himself from Paris to London, but because of this he was under the impression that OTTO had some connexion with Paris. He claimed that he had already told either Arthur Martin or me about this story. I said that I could not recall it. He asked me again whether the man in the photograph was connected with Paris, and I admitted that there was a connexion.

I am sorry to have held this up but it has taken a little time to connect the various files.

2. I should be grateful if you would reply that there is nothing recorded against Dr. Gyorgy CSAKANY. A reliable and delicate source has reported, however, that on two occasions in 1968 Mrs. Lizy HONIGMANN formerly PHILBY, the first wife of the spy Kim PHILBY, appeared to have stayed at his address in Budapest on a visit there from her home in East Germany. It is impossible to assess the security significance, if any, of this fact, and we would, therefore, not wish to raise any objection to the granting of a visa.

3. May we please have copies of these papers for the file on Lizy HONIGMANN @ PHILBY, PF.68,261, on which reference you will wish also to send your reply.

Reference minute 36. I think the phenomenon of a young member of the Communist Party, probably contributing generously and in secret to Party funds, directing a Trotskyist publishing company, and in friendly touch with Lizy HONIGMANN formerly PHILBY is a very interesting one indeed. He is also in touch with KLUGMAN (6a). As he is a German speaker I wondered whether he had once paid a visit to E. Germany to learn the language and met Lizy there. However, his passport papers show that his 1962 passport was issued in Stuttgart at a time when, he was a student. This suggests he learnt his German in W. Germany. His acquaintanceship with Lizy (which seems a close and affectionate one) may presumably have come about through his friendship with Ilona DONAT. He might possibly have had some link with Ilona through her work for Contemporary Films. At the time of his visit to Lizy in E. Germany in 1969 he appears to have been a history student at the University of Warwick. He spent the last three months of 1968 at the University of Khartoum. So he is quite a traveller.

2. I notice that in his letter to Lizy at 30a he mentioned Blanca SANCHA and I have drawn this to the attention of K3/DCS.

3. Merely to build up some more background information I have asked for his Army Papers. These should come in due course but I will not hold this up any longer to wait for them.

NOTE FOR FILE

K.3. Miss Palliser drew my attention to the attached letter from Lizy PHILBY to Gerda NEWMARK dated 10th January 1969 filed at 163a in PF.68,261 containing a reference to the SANCHAs.

2. The letter undoubtedly refers to Alicia Mariblanca SANCHAs the daughter of Jose and Anelia SANCHAs who lived in East Germany (Wildensteiner Strasse 20, Berlin) from 1959-1967 when they went to Spain. Alicia Mariblanca came to the U.K. in June 1968 and was given permission to stay until July 1969 to attend art classes at Wimbledon Technical College. The Traffic Index shows that she was out of the U.K. from 14th December 1968 to 16th January 1969 which accords with the information in Lizy's letter. The reference to the brother obviously refers to Alan SANCHAs who is still living in East Germany and is in very poor health.

3. There is nothing in the early volumes of the files for the three SANCHAs brothers to show any connection with Lizy PHILBY or the DISCARD circle.

12. Questioned again about "Arnold" she replied "he said he was working for - - no I do not remember." (It seemed probable that she did in fact remember his overt employment here.) Asked what nationality he was she said she thought he was Austrian. She supposed she spoke to him in German but she did not remember and he might have spoken English. Asked if he knew Lizy she said "No" she knew Lizy much later. She was now shown all the photographs and appeared very ready to look at them. She identified the following photographs:- A21 - Kim PHILEY, A22a - Lizy PHILEY, A28 Arthur WYNN ("familiar - I do know him"), A16 - James KLUGMAN ("Maybe". It was quite clear that she did recognise KLUGMAN), A26 - Peter SMOLLETT ("Familiar"), B3(B) - Johanna BARUCH, B15 - Claud COCKBURN (she gave his name), B26 Maurice DOBB, B27 - Ilona DONAT, B28 - Paul EISLER ("Familiar"), B41 - Ian HENDERSON ("I have seen him"), B49 - Anita KAUFMAN ("Is her name FRIDEL. No, but I am sure I know her"), B51 - Brigitte KUCZYNSKI ("Familiar"), B55 - Wolf LEVIT ("Not unfamiliar"), B56 - Ala LOW-BEHR (gave the name), B59 - Paul LOW-BEHR (gave the name), B65, B67, B80 - Victor ROTHSCHILD ("I am not sure"), B84 and B86 ("That is Bob STEWART.")

15. Asked to describe her association with Lizy she said she knew her only outside politics. Lizy was living a social life, she did not consider her to be a political person at all. She had met PHILBY but hardly knew him at all, she had met him once, perhaps twice.

16. She said, quite suddenly, that Arnold may have said that he might send someone to her.

17. Asked if she remembered the GLADING case she said she knew nothing about it. She was told that this was strange as it was known that she had known GLADING's wife. She admitted knowing Rosa SHAR. She was not worried at the time of the GLADING arrest but she thought that someone had wanted to harm her, when she was interviewed by the Police.

18. She was told that PHILEY had been worried because he knew she had a photograph of him. Why should this be so? and she said "I suppose it was because he knew that I was Left Wing." She said that during the time that she knew Lizy everyone was very discreet, particularly Lizy. Lizy did not want to be connected with anything political. She (Edith) knew absolutely nothing about what PHILBY and the others had been doing.

45. We asked whether Betty SHIELDS-COLLINS had had a Secretary either in Geneva or in Paris, and if so whether he had known her.

COMMENT

In asking these questions we were expecting that the answer might be Joan Home PEEL, now Brian SIMON's wife (vide Comment following paragraph 18). We do not know when Joan started working for Betty; our earliest indication that she was doing so refers to 1938 when she is reported as having discharged Betty's duties in Paris when the latter attended a W.S.A. Youth congress at Vassar College, New York State, U.S.A.

World Student Association (for Peace, Freedom & Culture)

46. HENDERSON said that so far as he recalled Betty did not have her own Secretary in Paris, but he had known a girl who had worked in KLUGMANN's office who had helped Betty with typing and other secretarial tasks. We asked her name; he told us it was Lucie HALPERN. She had told him that she had had an Austrian/Jewish father and a Spanish mother both of whom had suffered - indeed died - at the hands of the Fascists. She had been bitterly anti-Fascist; she had probably been a Communist.

K3/602 30/3/71

Lucie, in the course of the last few years, has been interviewed by the French authorities on a number of occasions. From our point of view in the light of the reports we have received there seem to be certain areas where she could be questioned in greater detail. As a result of what we have learnt from recent U.R.G. research into Comintern activities in Paris at that time, we would have a number of questions about these we would like the French to ask her; we would obviously also like to know who, apart from HENDERSON, her friends were there, and whether for example, she had known her Viennese contemporary Lizzy PHILBY. (She was of course in Beirut during the time Kim PHILBY was there).

59. Before leaving the subject of Paris we asked if the following addresses meant anything to him:

- (a) 11 bis rue SCHOELCHER
Paris XIV
- (b) 41 rue Descartes
Paris V
- (c) Buisson, Grosvouvre,
Seine-et-Oise.

He said they meant nothing to him. We said that these were the addresses of Lizzy PHILBY nee Lizzy FRIEDMANN who had been in Paris at that time; had he met her, or had he heard Lucie mention her? He did not think he had ever met Lizzy or had known anything about her, nor did he recognise a photograph.

Note on the 1937 Weekend House Party at the PHILBY Cottage in Wales

Five persons have been questioned about this occasion - (PF.151,242), Andrew D'ANTAL (PF.47,180), Heinz ROLAND (PF.749,778), Gerda NEWMARK (PF.49,307), and Friedl CALDER (PF.66,317), all of whom were certainly present at the cottage.

- 2. There is a consensus that the date was the Whitsun weekend of May 1937, coinciding with the Coronation of George VI.
- 3. Putting together the testimony of the five persons questioned a total of eight persons have been identified as having been present, viz:-

- Lizy PHILBY } who arrived first in a small red Singer.
- Gerda NEWMARK }
- Edward NEWMARK (not yet married to Gerda)
- Andrew D'ANTAL
- Friedl CALDER
- Heinz ROLAND
- Unidentified man "X"

Nobody has ever suggested that Friedl CALDER's sister Lissy MENZIES was present.

- 4. "X" has been variously described as:-
 - (i) a thick-set man with a bull neck - "one of those journalists", name possibly "Fritz" or at least a German name of some kind
 - (ii) a wealthy city man, probably Julius STRAUSS, who was a friend either of ROLAND or of the NEWMARKS (D'ANTAL) - but we know from ROLAND and photographic evidence that it was not Julius STRAUSS who there is no reason to believe was present.
 - (iii) a Persian (CALDER) - and ROLAND seemed to think that this might be correct although he did not remember the man as having been present until shown the photograph.

5. Photographs

Two sets of photographs have been produced - by Gerda NEWMARK and by Friedl CALDER:

(i) The NEWMARK Photographs

These appear to have become mixed up in the files but were from the same set of negatives. They were probably taken by on the twin-lens reflex camera which he can be seen carrying in the CALDER photographs. They consist of several snaps of Lizy and her dog, one of and Gerda NEWMARK in the small car on a beach; a close-up or enlargement of sitting on the steps of a hut, possibly a beach hut; one of Lizy PHILBY, Gerda NEWMARK, and Friedl CALDER.

(ii) The Friedl CALDER Photographs

These consist of two group snapshots in which all the eight persons known to have been at the cottage appear. They were not taken by as he appears in them: nor by his camera as the format is not that of a twin-lens reflex and in one of the snaps is clearly carrying his own camera. One of the CALDER group snaps was probably taken on the same day as the NEWMARK picture of the three girls as they are wearing identical clothes in every detail.

6. The CALDER photographs raise the question of whether there was a ninth person at the cottage as they include all the eight known to have been there. They could have been taken with a self-timer but this would require a tripod and one would expect somebody to have remembered this slightly unusual technique having been used. Alternatively they may have enlisted the aid of some more or less casual visitor to photograph the whole group together. The only person who appears to have been asked positively who took these photographs was ROLAND who said he could not remember.

7. has not been shown the group photographs or asked about the identity of "X" since we have obtained a photograph of him. This would seem the obvious outstanding action. The NEWMARK's have likewise not been shown it but Gerda NEWMARK made it plain at her last interview that she was not prepared to be interrogated any further.

NOTE FOR FILE

Note on interview with Dr. Henry ROLAND at Room 055 on 13 April, 1970.

Dr. ROLAND telephoned Room 055 at about 10.00 a.m. on 13 April in response to the letter and it was arranged that he should come for interview at 4.00 p.m. the same day. He did not ask what the interview was about.

3. Without any further prompting ROLAND said that his knowledge of PHILBY was limited to a weekend he had spent at PHILBY's cottage in Wales in, he thought, 1933, 1934 or 1935 (it was in fact 1937). He said that the invitation had come through the NEWMARKS who were members of his "circle" and he proceeded to tell me who the NEWMARKS were and are. The others present at the cottage - it was a "long" weekend, either Easter or Whitsun - had been Andrew D'ANTAL, whose background he also described; a girl called Friedl who was either German or Austrian, who had married an American diplomat, and who had a sister, Lissv. who married Lord LATHAM, former Head of London Transport; and a man called ~~whom~~ he later agreed was ~~when~~ I mentioned the surname). He recollected that someone had had a red Singer sports car though he was not sure whether he travelled down in this or in a little Austin he possessed at the time. His wife had not gone as she had had measles or something of the kind. PHILBY was not present and ROLAND could not remember whether he was with The Times or in Spain at that time. They had more or less camped in the cottage as the accommodation was very limited. He recollected that the cottage was on or near a single-line railway track at a place with a

Note

(2) Friedl is Friedl CALDER nee STOTTINGER the subject of PF 66,317. Her sister, Lissy, married Ian MENZIES, and ROLAND is in error in saying that she married Lord LATHAM.

4. At this stage I showed ROLAND the photographs (provided by Friedl CALDER) taken during the weekend. He was naturally intrigued with these and asked who had taken them. I said that several members of the group had copies and I was not sure who had provided these. He identified seven members of the group without difficulty but appeared at a loss over the unidentified man whom he did not seem to remember as having been present at all. He reacted at once when I suggested the name Julius STRAUSS, saying that he knew STRAUSS well - he was Frankfurt born and is a member of the stockbroking firm of STRAUSS, TURNBULL and Co. He had been a member of his circle but he was sure he had not been at the weekend in Wales and he did not resemble the man in the picture. He was now "bald and ugly": I pointed out that the pictures were taken over thirty years ago but he still could not equate STRAUSS with the man in the picture. He said that if it had not been for the photographs he would not have remembered this man as having been present at all and he had no idea who he was or where he fitted into the party. He was prepared to show the photograph to STRAUSS if I wished but he was sure it was not him. I mentioned the suggestion that the man had been a Persian (see Friedl CALDER's account). ROLAND made no immediate comment to this but later on, when just about to go, he asked whether there had been any particular significance in my reference to a Persian. I said no - it was simply the recollection of one member of the party. In his subsequent note returning the photograph (see serial 54a) he says that he believes "the suggestion that it was someone from the Iran Embassy is correct", and adds that it is certainly not Julius STRAUSS. One wonders whether this is not an attempt to throw us off the scent. I did not mention the Persian Embassy though I did say half-jokingly at some stage that we wondered whether it might have been someone from the Russian Embassy.

5. The only person ROLAND thought might conceivably be able to help (by this time I had hinted that we had tried all the other members of the group except Lizy PHILBY) was one Joe AVRACH, a former B.B.C. employee who was now free-lancing and who had been a slightly later recruit to their circle. AVRACH's address was 7 Braxted Park, Streatham. He described AVRACH as "from Poland or Berlin".

Note

(1) Andrew D'ANTAL (PF 47,180) said that he thought the unidentified man may have been a Jewish stockbroker called Julius STRAUSS who was a friend either of ROLAND or of the NEWMARKS.

(2) AVRACH is N.T. in Registry but he is evidently known to have been a member of the NEWMARK circle as his name was put to D'ANTAL when the latter was interviewed in October, 1968. (33c) D'ANTAL described AVRACH as a painter and a friend of ROLAND's, but also connected with the B.B.C. He had been born in the part of Poland which was Russian at that time but was to all intents and purposes a Berliner.

6. Reverting to the photographs I asked ROLAND if he could remember who had taken them, as unless they were taken with a delayed-action shutter there must have been a ninth person present. He was unable to assist at all on this.

7. Recapitulating the story of the weekend ROLAND confirmed that he had come in on it as a friend of NEWMARK and D'ANTAL and he had not previously met Lizy or Kim PHILBY. Some time after the weekend incident he had met both the PHILBY's at their flat in London but this was the extent of his acquaintance. He remembered Kim PHILBY as intelligent and charming but a heavy drinker even in those days. He asked me whether Lizy had been "involved" and I confirmed that she had. He did not seem surprised. His only other comment about PHILBY was that he had been surprised to read that he had never learnt Russian, but I think he said this to bring out the point that he (ROLAND) had taught himself Russian in a short space of time. I did not pursue this or try to draw him out on his visits to the U.S.S.R.

8. ROLAND volunteered at some stage that the members of his circle were "very left" - in view of what was happening in Germany at the time he said this was the only possible standpoint for anyone of conscience. They were all "respectable" now. He remembered arguing with Edward NEWMARK at the time of the Ribbentrop-Molotov Pact which as far as he - ROLAND - was concerned was the end of everything. NEWMARK had defended Russia at that time but he had mellowed (or words to that effect) with the achievement of material success. He described NEWMARK as being not in the same intellectual class as D'ANTAL. He mentioned that NEWMARK had met Lizy PHILBY on at least one occasion since the war in the course of visiting the Leipzig Fair and he wondered if we knew this. I said that I believed we did.

Dear

John FERT

Please refer to your letter of 16th June, 1969 and ours in reply of 8th August, 1969.

2. We would be interested to know if you ever followed this matter up and were able to get any more details from Colin MacINTYRE about his conversation with FERT.

3. Our interest in this has been renewed by a report we have received recently that Lizzy PHILBY had resigned from the Communist Party over Czechoslovakia, had lost her job and that there was growing disillusion among people of her kind.

4. In our letter of 9th June, 1969 we mentioned FERT's habit of visiting his mother annually in England. We notice from PHILBY that this year he spent his holiday in Bulgaria instead.

Yours

Thank you. If we could manage to get hold of a
might try again.

I saw Andrew Louis D'ANTAL yesterday, the 8th December, and as requested by you showed him the photograph (attached) of Jennifer Fisher WILLIAMS, and asked him if by any chance the "ginger haired woman" who was connected with the Communist cell of the Westminster Labour Party in 1937 was similar in appearance to the woman in the photograph. D'ANTAL said that he recalled his "ginger haired woman" as having curly, frizzy hair, whereas Jennifer Fisher WILLIAMS' hair would appear to be of the straight variety. He also said it would be very difficult to equate any similarity as the photograph of Jennifer Fisher WILLIAMS is of a much older woman.

2. In the course of further conversation, D'ANTAL told me that he had recently been visiting the NEWMARKs, (PF.49,307), and was told by Gerda NEWMARK that after they had visited the Leipzig Fair, she and her husband had been to East Berlin to see Lizzy PHILBY. Lizzy apparently was in somewhat poor health and she had told the NEWMARKs that she had been sacked from her job in some East German publishing firm as a result of her resigning from the Communist Party over the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia. Apparently Lizzy PHILBY and many of her East German friends had all resigned from the Communist Party over the Czechoslovak issue and that as a consequence of their action, had all been removed from their jobs. D'ANTAL went on to say that the NEWMARKs had told him that there was considerable disillusion amongst the "old guard Communist" and that Lizzy had said that some heavy re-indoctrination was going on within the Communist Party.

9. During further discussions about his own work for the R.I.S., BLUNT recalled that in the early part of the war BURGESS had given him instructions on how to contact the R.I.S. in France. As far as he remembered he was to go at a prearranged time and date to the cafe whose name appeared first in the Michelin guide. He also recalled that during the time from the December of 1940 onwards when Lizzie PHILBY had acted as his contact he had met her on several occasions in Bentinck Street in BURGESS' presence. He commented that perhaps Tess ROTHSCHILD would remember the visits although, on reflection, he thought that Lizzie PHILBY might have called only when she knew that Tess would not be there. He had also occasionally met Lizzie PHILBY at the Courtauld Institute. He went on to say that Lizzie PHILBY had made no secret of the fact that BURGESS and PHILBY were also "in the game" and that she was taking the material which they gave her to Bob STEWART at Party Headquarters. He remembered that she had said that STEWART had been given all their names.

Dear Gerda,

you remember the Sanchas, you met a few years ago in my place ? Well they went back to Spain and the daughter is living in London and visited us now. It seems that she is having a hard time and as you will see, she is not very clever in practical things. She is looking for a sheap room and has to earn money, so that she will be able to go to the school ^{she} stagedesign. She is gifted no doubt and the school promised her to take her. Now I wonder whether you could help her in giving her the best advise. I also thought, may be she could stay with Ilon for the beginning without paying for the room, there must be several empty in her house. Anyway I will write to her about it. Also may be the Albermans ^{PF-219 8+3} could help with a job. I cannot write to them as I have no connection anymore with them, but may be you could ring them and ask. Anyway Blanca will ring you as soon as she is back, which will be about the 16th and may be she can stay a Weekend with you discussing all matters. She had no money to come here and Walter sent it to her. Her brother lives here, but is ill and ~~cannot~~ ^{cannot} earn hardlyx very little I believe. She is really a very nice straightforward girl, a little harsh in her ways. It would be very nice if you could help her ⁱⁿ some ways.

Everybody is having a cold, so have I, feeling lousy. Fortunately I dont have a lot of work yet, ^{its} more visiting my firm now and then. This will I am afraid finish the 20th. I got so lazy that I sleep right through until 8. I hope that you both are also having a good rest after the Christmasrush.

Lots of love to you all Wyn

Dear Gerda and Edward,

It was sweet of you to ring New Year's Eve and I was sorry I couldn't talk to you. Babu as she told you had a party of at least 40-50 people so I fled to *Florence where I went to bed at 1.30, much too late for me but we couldn't very well throw out the only other visitor. I slept there of course and returned next day at 5 in the afternoon to find still 7 people were playing Monopoly. But they washed up everything and the flat was O.K.

 A man answered 'FRAU HONIGMAN'. DISCARD said 'hallo' twice.
 GERDA then took over and asked for LITZI or BABU. In German.
 Distant man said LITZI was not there. He went away to call BABU.
 (GERDA told DISCARD aside that LITZI was not there. She said sorrowfully 'I thought that this would happen'.)
 BABU came to the phone. GERDA wanted to wish them a Happy New Year.
 GERDA confirmed that she was speaking from England.
 BABU said her mother was not there. She was having a party herself.
 BABU would ring LITZI at once - she was with SCHMETLEINS.
 BABU talked of not being very well and having a bad throat and unable
